#1 Best Box Office

In 2017, we watched as one horror movie truly broke the mold. It opened at a time of year when we're not used to seeing movies blow up at the box office, with a cast of relative unknowns, tapping into our deepest fears about what lies underneath the brittle surface of American life. Fear has many names, but after 2017 we know one the best: Pennywise.

The nominees for Best Box Office are:

"47 Meters Down"

"Get On Out"

"The Greatest Showman"

"It"

"Jumanji: Welcome to the Jungle"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

Presented by

"same"

#2 Best Leadup to a Movie

Last year we told you about how movies can take forever just to be born, and while that's still true, we've also learned that other movies are born in a hurry. From "The Post" to "The 15:17 to Paris" to "All the Money in the World", old people were stinking up the maternity wards this year.

The nominees for Best Leadup to a Movie are:

"All the Money in the World"

"Fifty Shades Darker"

"Girls Trip"

"It"

"The Boss Baby"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

#3 Best Supporting Actor

Some parents say children should be seen and not heard. You could say the same of our five nominees for Best Supporting Actor, most of whom were so supporting they barely seemed to exist. The nominees are:

Gil Birmingham, "Wind River"
Armie Hammer, "Call Me By Your Name"
Stephen McKinley Henderson, "Lady Bird"
Chesley 'Sully' Sullenberger, "Daddy's Home 2"
Bruce Willis, "Split"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

#4 Most Purge-Like

We call The Purge a lot of names. The Purge Anarchy. The Purge Election Year. Purge One. Purge Rulebook. The Purge Drinks. The Purge: Geneva Abstract. The Elkin House. Purge: Guns on the Seneca. Purge: Wedding.

But tonight, the five nominees for Most Purge-Like are:

"Fist Fight"
"The Florida Project"
"Girls Trip"
"Going in Style"
"Monster Trucks"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

Presented by Greg Fong

#5 Birds

[bird noise] Birds. Can't live with 'em. Can't live without 'em. And you certainly can't keep them out of the movies. I'm pleased to announce the nominees for Birds.

Here they are:

Parakeet, "I, Tonya"
The Creeper, "Jeepers Creepers 3"
Lady Bird, "Lady Bird"
Meryl Streep, "The Post"
Swimming bird, "The Shape of Water"
Dave the Dove, "The Star"
Porgs, "Star Wars: The Last Jedi"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

#6 Best Runtime

Many say that a screenplay is the backbone of a movie. The words on the page are the foundation upon which everything else is built. But, each year, Film Fun likes to recognize a movie's true foundation: minutes.

The nominees for Best Runtime are:

76 minutes of "Born in China"
89 minutes of "47 Meters Down"
135 minutes of "It"
94 minutes of "Lady Bird"
86 minutes of "The Star"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

Presented by

#7 Best Theater

~~NEW~~ ← ← needs idea

The nominees for Best Theater are:

Cineplex Odeon Eau Claire Market Cinemas (Calgary, AB)
Movie Theatre from Daddy's Home 2 (unknown)
Pacific Theatres at the Grove (Los Angeles, CA)
Pittsford Plaza Cinema 9 (Rochester, NY)
The Strand Theatre of Old Forge (Old Forge, NY)

And the Film Fun award goes to:

#8 Best Brilliance

Brilliance is defined as “excellence or distinction in physical or mental ability; exceptional talent, splendour or magnificence.” From Edgar Wright to Christopher Nolan—from the Marvel Cinematic Universe all the way down to Darren Aronofsky’s dirty fingernails—one thing’s for sure: all of tonight’s nominees would use the very same words to describe themselves.

The nominees for Best Brilliance are:

“Baby Driver”

“Dunkirk”

“mother!”

“Spider-Man: Homecoming”

“Star Wars: The Last Jedi”

And the Film Fun award goes to:

#9 Best Supporting Actress

Hello, Academy. It’s my deepest regret that I’m not in the same room with you now, sitting amongst some of the industry’s greatest talent and sharing in the magic of their victories. I wish I could’ve seen the look on Finn Wolfhard’s face earlier after It won twice in a row. But though there is distance between us, I couldn’t let a Film Fun Awards ceremony pass by without sending my support. And that’s just what these five immensely talented women each had to offer to their respective films: support.

So, in the category for Best Performance by an Actress in a Supporting Role, the nominees are:

Jennifer Connelly, “Spider-Man: Homecoming”

Tiffany Haddish, “Girls Trip”

Dafne Keen, “Logan”

Laurie Metcalf, “Lady Bird”

Rihanna, “Valerian and the City of a Thousand Planets”

And the Film Fun award goes to:

Presented by Andrey Goverdovsky

#10 Best Movie Not from 2015

It’s really nice to be back.

A couple years ago in 2015, Film Fun awarded Best Picture to Furious 7, what some might regard as the best movie since Titanic. It was a glorious year, featuring competition like Creed, Magic Mike XXL, Brooklyn, The Intern, Sicario, Minions and Aloha -- each a Best Picture in and of themselves. But, just like Christmas, great movies come out every year... not just 2015.

The nominees for Best Movie Not from 2015 are:

"A Christmas Story"
"Dr. Seuss' How the Grinch Stole Christmas"
"Elf"
"The Grinch"
"The Holiday"
"It's a Wonderful Life"
"Jingle All the Way"
"Love Actually"
"National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation"
"Titanic"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

#11 Best Movie No One Has an Opinion About

Each year, five tremendously neutral movies are nominated by their peers for their stunningly average releases. For some, this will be the last time their names are spoken out loud.

The nominees for Best Movie No One Has an Opinion About are:

"Battle of the Sexes"
"The Beguiled"
"Born in China"
"Captain Underpants: The First Epic Movie"
"Diary of a Wimpy Kid: The Long Haul"
"Guardians of the Galaxy Vol. 2"
"T2: Trainspotting"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

#12 Best Oscar

We bury our sins. We wash them clean. These are the nominees for Best Oscar:

"Get On Out"
"Mudbound"
"The Post"
"The Shape of Water"
"Three Billboards Outside Ebbing, Missouri"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

#13 Worst Talking

At least once a year, you find yourself home in bed at 4am, wasted. Without thinking, you pop the nearest Oscar screener into your DVD player and start to unwrap your Spicy Dragon sandwich. That's when it hits you. You don't remember inviting Viola Davis home from the party and giving her 20 lines of coke, but lo and behold, there she is, happening to you. Talking and talking. Appetite lost, you set your sandwich aside and close your eyes. At this rate, she'll never notice that you're sleeping. As you try to doze off, the most you can hope for is that she's gone when you wake up.

The nominees for Worst Talking are:

"A Ghost Story"
"The Post"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

#15 Best Sounds presented by

And in the naked light I saw: ten thousand people, maybe more. People talking without speaking. People hearing without listening. People writing songs that voices never share. And no one dared disturb the sound of silence.

The nominees for Best Sounds are:

- “Call Me By Your Name”
- “Columbus”
- “Lady Bird”
- “Personal Shopper”
- “The Shack”

And the Film Fun award goes to:

#16 Best Visuals

With Gary Marshall and Nora Ephron up in heaven, and Nancy Meyers seemingly retired, many are whispering that Movies just aren't Visual anymore. But even if everything starts to look and feel like Netflix, visuals aren't going anywhere. And we can't not recognize them for that.

The five nominees for Best Visuals are:

- “Alien: Covenant”
- “Cars 3”
- “Columbus”
- “Home Again”
- “Personal Shopper”

And the Film Fun award goes to:

Presented by Alejandro Calcano & Sarah Morrison [video]

Alec Baldwin, "The Boss Baby"
Timothée Chalamet, "Call Me By Your Name"
John Cho, "Columbus"
Hugh Jackman, "Logan"
Bill Skarsgard, "It"

And the Film Fun award goes to:

Presented by Bridget Flower

#19 Best Director

I started thinking about the things that make us moms, and the very unique qualities we must possess to be great moms. As we know, life changes a lot when we have kids, and we change ... yet we still are the same person. It's a fascinating and beautiful journey we take to parenthood, and along the way we learn so much, not just about our kids, but ourselves.

You can say the same about great directors, and their children, the movies.

Without further ado, here are the five dreamers nominated for Best Director:

Olivier Assayas, "Personal Shopper"
Greta Gerwig, "Lady Bird"
Luca Guadagnino, "Call Me By Your Name"
Malcolm D. Lee, "Girls Trip"
M. Night Shyamalan, "Split"

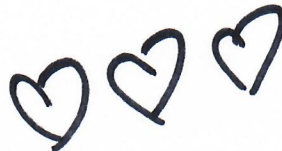

And the Film Fun Award goes to:
