INTRODUCTION: "I Wanna Show You Something"

FORMAL WELCOME by Mike and Keaton

Presented by Sean Monahan
#1 Worst Talking

Dark, terrifying, disgusting, brilliant and unforgettable. An original thought-piece that builds on the dissonance of the past as a way to conjecture about the future. Fear of the masses - in a movie. And a bold, startling when not mournful expression of simmering low wage police state millennial generation misery. Fleck is a literal amalgam of both Thalia and Melpomene, an intriguing interpretation that positions his internal tension as the source of madness. These are just some of the weird things people had to say about movies in the year 2019.

The nominees for Worst Talking are:

"Joker"

"Motherless Brooklyn"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by Fedya Novikov
#2 Best Dance

Clock strikes upon the hour, and the sun begins to fade. Still enough time to figure out how to chase my blues away. I've done alright up to now, it's the light of day that shows me how. And when the night falls, loneliness calls. The following seven nominees most definitely wanted to dance with somebody—somebody that loved them. And dance they did.

The nominees for Best Dance are:

Captain America & Peggy, "Avengers: Endgame"

"Criminal" striptease, "Hustlers"

Jo & Laurie on the porch, "Little Women"

Ma does the robot, "Ma"

The theater troupe shakes it out, "Marriage Story"

The Macarena, "Richard Jewell"

Sharon Tate at the Playboy Mansion, "Once Upon a Time in Hollywood"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by Greg Fong
#3 Birds

[bird noise] Birds. Can't live with 'em. Can't live without 'em. And even after all these years, much like you can't keep me out of this category, you still can't keep them out of the movies.

The nominees for Birds are:

The Aeronauts, "The Aeronauts"
"The Angry Birds Movie 2"
Cats, "Cats"
Heaviside balloon, "Cats"
Mice, "Cats"
Roaches, "Cats"
Goldfinch, "The Goldfinch"
Demolished Seagull, "The Lighthouse"
Falcon?, "The Peanut Butter Falcon"
The parrot next door, "Under the Silver Lake"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by Greg Fong
#4 Words

Amistad. Sling Blade. Grosse Pointe Blank. Down Periscope. Good Will Hunting. Green Book.
They aren't Birds. They're Words. Words have died -- words were buried -- and words will rise again. If there's anything the movies in this category have in common, it's that if you were to mention their name aloud to a little kid, their answer would inevitably be: "What?"

The nominees for Words are:

"The Current War"
"Downton Abbey"
"Midsommar"
"The Sun is Also a Star"
"Uncut Gems"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by Andy Faulkner
#5 Best Supporting Actor

At the 47th Grammy Awards, held on February 13th, 2005, R&B star Usher took home the award for Best Rap/Sung Collaboration for his iconic smash hit, "Yeah!". Just two weeks later, on February 25th, Noah Jupe—his fellow nominee in this category—was born. The circle of life may be long and winding, but this year, these five men showed us how to drive along it with style and grace.

[NOMINEE CLIP REEL]

The nominees for Best Supporting Actor are:

Timothee Chalamet, "Little Women"
Tyrese Gibson, "Black and Blue"
Noah Jupe, "Ford v Ferrari"
Brad Pitt, "Once Upon a Time in Hollywood"
Usher, "Hustlers"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

BEST PICTURE NOMINEE INTRODUCTION: AVENGERS: ENDGAME

Martin Scorsese had a lot to say about cinema this year. But what kind of cinema was he talking about? There's "cinema", noun: "the art or technique of making motion pictures", or "motion pictures, collectively, as an art." Presumably that's what he was referring to. But there's another, more obvious definition. "Cinema", noun: "a motion picture theater." A place where movies are shown. Maybe that's the kind of cinema we're talking about right now. It's the single mother and her two kids in the back row. It's the teenagers on their first date cozied up in the corner. It's your mom and dad, at the theater for the first time in months. It's the entire audience. They're all in this together, pouring into the screen and then back out into the audience, the crowd so vast and swirling you can't tell where the screen is anymore. Cue the fanfare. This is... AVENGERS: ENDGAME.

Presented by Sophie Corra
#6 Best Runtime

We're all just flesh and bone, and movies are just minutes. Three of the five nominees in this category did their best to keep our asses asleep—and the other two just wanted us out the door in one piece.

The nominees for Best Runtime are:

182 minutes of "Avengers: Endgame"
87 minutes of "Crawl"
209 minutes of "The Irishman"
38 minutes of "Jesus Is King"
161 minutes of "Once Upon a Time in Hollywood"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

Presented by Micah G
#7 Best Theater

Three of tonight's nominees for Best Theater live in the same zip code, here in Hollywood. Another lives in the pages of Louisa May Alcott, and in the flickering images of Greta Gerwig. Still another lives across the border from Paddington's "Darkest Peru", just one long bus ride—and one Jordan Peele release cycle—away.

The nominees for Best Theater are:

Arclight Hollywood (Los Angeles, CA)
Cinerama Dome (Los Angeles, CA)
Cine Teatros Monje Campero (La Paz, Bolivia) ???
The March Sisters' living room (Plumfield, MA)
Vista Theatre (Los Angeles, CA)

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by Carrie Gibson
#8 Most Purge-Like

Picture this. One night a year, where all crime is legal, for twelve hours. It's sure to be an evening of murder, mayhem—and maybe even love. But what do you grab with you before you head out the door? Some cats. A rampaging alligator. A couple middle-school boys. A hippie chick. And a box of chardonnay. Sounds like a party to me.

The nominees for Most Purge-Like are:

"Cats"
"Crawl"
"Good Boys"
"Once Upon a Time in Hollywood"
"Wine Country"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by Julia Gauger
#9 Best Supporting Actress

This year, in the news, it seemed like everyone was more concerned with what Supporting Actresses didn't have to say than what they did. But whether they said it with their eyes, or their lips—their minds, or their hearts—these five women said it all to us.

[NOMINEE CLIP REEL]

The nominees for Best Supporting Actress are:

Halle Berry, "John Wick: Chapter 3 - Parabellum"
Julia Butters, "Once Upon a Time in Hollywood"
Jennifer Lopez, "Hustlers"
Margot Robbie, "Once Upon a Time in Hollywood"
Alanna Ubach, "Bombshell"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

Presented by Fedya Novikov

BEST PICTURE NOMINEE INTRODUCTION: FORD V FERRARI

The first production Model T was produced on August 12, 1908 and left the factory on September 27, 1908, at the Ford Piquette Avenue Plant in Detroit, Michigan. The very last Model T came off the production line on May 26, 1927, 19 years later. The first iPhone produced by Apple was released in the United States on June 29, 2007, and the last iPhone will be released sometime in 2026, giving it around the same lifespan as the Model T. Does technology ever really live? Does it breathe, like you and me? Are movies technology? For our fathers, and our father's fathers, and their fathers before them, this is... FORD V FERRARI.

Presented by Eugene Kotlyarenko

#10 Best Brilliance

Brilliance is defined as "excellence or distinction in physical or mental ability; exceptional talent, splendour or magnificence." Though tonight's nominees in the category of Best Brilliance transcend genre, format and even nationality, there's something they all share: they're not afraid to look like they're trying. Our five wick-edly talented nominees for Best Brilliance are:

"Joker"
"Knives Out"
"The Lighthouse"
"Once Upon a Time in Hollywood"
"Parasite"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by Ping

#11 Best Oscar

We bury our sins. We wash them clean. These are the five nominees for Best Oscar:

"The Irishman"
"Joker"

Presented by Andrey Goverdovsky
#12 Best Movie No One Has an Opinion About

Each year, five tremendously neutral movies are nominated by their peers for their stunningly average releases. For some, this will be the last time their names are spoken out loud.

The nominees for Best Movie No One Has an Opinion About are:

"The Aeronauts"
"Fighting with My Family"
"Frozen II"
"The Good Liar"
"Jexi"
"Toy Story 4"
"Zombieland 2: Double Tap"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by VERY SPECIAL SURPRISE GUEST
#13 Worst Best

?.?.?.?.

Sylvia Plath once said, "If you expect nothing from somebody, you're never disappointed." But she said that long before any of these five movies were around to listen.

The nominees for Worst Best are:

"Frozen II"
"It: Chapter Two"
"The Lion King"
"Scary Stories to Tell in the Dark"
"Star Wars: The Rise of Skywalker"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

Presented by Kim Roberts
BEST PICTURE NOMINEE INTRODUCTION: HUSTLERS

Back in 2008, in the throes of the financial crisis, Barack Obama was elected president, and we were told that change had come. Gone were the days of worrying about another $12 Bank of America overdraft fee. Gone were the nights of eating alone at Wendy's and skipping the drink because an extra $2 genuinely felt like too much to spare. Gone was The Dark Knight. And yet here we are, almost twelve years later, with a little more money—and mostly the same problems, right on down to the Joker himself. I want you to let yourself feel that anger, to start thinking about what you can do about it... even if that means going to Iowa and counting out votes with your bare hands. But first I want you to remember how we got here today: by never, ever letting go of the possibility that we might find love... in this club.

This is... HUSTLERS.

Presented by Kim Roberts
#14 Bangs

[Re: Hustlers; sighing] What a great film. It also turns out that 2008 was the last time I had bangs. Someone once told me that when girls say they're getting bangs, you should always make sure they're okay. In the case of this year's movies, and one TV show, Film Fun made sure to give them a whole new category. That's kind of like going to therapy, right?

Here they are:

Annabelle, "Annabelle Comes Home"
The cast of "Big Little Lies"
Dora, "Dora and the Lost City of Gold"
Octavia Spencer, "Ma"
Constance Wu, "Hustlers"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by ?
#15 Best Other Language Film

Members of the Film Fun Academy come from across big cities on the coastal United States, so it is truly fitting that this year, Other Language films are just not recognized in this category, but in many other categories as well. We'll leave it to you to figure out which ones. Here are the nominees for Best Other Language Film:

From Italy - "Nebraska Jim"
From A24 - "The Lighthouse"
From Hungary - "Sunset"

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by Charlie Kuder
#16 Best Leadup to a Movie

The five movies in this category thrilled us, got us dancing in the aisles, and made us cry—all before we actually got to see them. Whether it was Octavia Spencer warning us, “Don’t let me drink alone”— a feline silhouette cast on a grimy backalley wall—the Sonic movie suffering endless delays because of his scary teeth—or Mike anxiously refreshing Karagarga for the French streaming rip of Jeffrey Epstein’s friend’s new movie—the air was thick with anticipation in 2019. The nominees for Best Leadup to a Movie are:

- “Avengers: Endgame”
- “Cats”
- “Ma”
- “Once Upon a Time in Hollywood”
- “A Rainy Day in New York”

And the Film Fun Award goes to:

---

Presented by
IN MEMORIAM – BOX OFFICE MOJO

Every year, we save a moment in the night’s ceremony to remember the box office fallen. Traditionally, we represent those movies with their respective Box Office Mojo pages.

This year, on its twentieth birthday, it is Box Office Mojo that we remember and pay our respects.

---

Presented by Keaton Ventura
#17 Best Box Office

So, where are we? BoxOfficeMojo.com now rests in peace. And the last time you remember getting an Entertainment Weekly in mail, you still believed The Matrix Reloaded would be the highest grossing movie of all time. These days, the box office may not be there in the way that you’re used to—the way that you want it to be—for you to see, and touch, and smell. But its heart goes on, and it beats louder than ever. Sure, it may be harder to discern a great opening weekend from another release from Disney, and it may be impossible to adjust Titanic’s domestic haul for ticket price inflation for whatever year Avatar 2 comes out, if it comes out. But in times of uncertainty, we learn to rise up—in our lives, and on the charts.

If anything at all, the five nominees for Best Box Office have proven it is still possible. They are:

- “Aladdin”
- “Avengers: Endgame”
- “Good Boys”
- “Hustlers”
- “John Wick: Chapter 3 - Parabellum”

BEST LIFETIME: THE BLOCKBUSTER (1975 - 2019)

---

Presented by Mike & Keaton
#18 Best Movie Not From 2015

K: Well, I think that just about says it all.

M: You know, there's one more thing. The movie arc of the universe is long, but it bends toward Avatar 2 coming out eventually. A lot can happen in the 678 days between now and then.

K: A lot has happened... in 45 years. And we thank all of you for being here to see it through with us.

M: We're glad you're here with us, now, at the end of all blockbusters.

Best Movie Not from 2015:

"Avatar"

"Avengers: Endgame"

"Batman"

"E.T. The Extra Terrestrial"

"Jaws"

"Jurassic Park"

"Spider-Man"

BEST PICTURE NOMINEE INTRODUCTION: *LITTLE WOMEN

Mike and his mom start to get nervous as the auditorium lights go down, and the last arrivals take their seats. They have almost an entire row saved, but no one's here yet. "Any word?" mom asks. Mike glances at his phone, shielding the light with the palm of his hand. "Parking now," the text from Keaton reads. Minutes later, Keaton and his family file in as the first frame lights up the screen: Jo March has her back turned to us, deep in thought. She's holding a manuscript she's written—something she wrote for herself, and for her sisters, in their own small world, something that's about to hold itself up to the light and let the entire world in. Keaton reassuringly pats his mom on the back as if to say, "We made it." It isn't such a small world after all, is it? This is...

BEST PICTURE NOMINEE INTRODUCTION: ONCE UPON A TIME IN HOLLYWOOD

Perhaps the simplest of all cocktails, what the martini lacks in ingredients it more than makes up for in mystique – and as cocktail historian David Wondrich observes, where simplicity and mystique collide, almost inevitably “you get religion”. Musso & Frank’s Grill has been operating on Hollywood Blvd. since 1919—it celebrated its 100th anniversary just a few months back—but in all those years, the recipe for a perfect drink hasn’t changed. We know it when we see it. We know it when we feel it—the minute our fingers grip the stem, cool with effort. We know the sound the glass makes it as clinks with the glass of a friend, seated right beside us where he belongs. We know it as we lift it to our lips, waiting, desiring. We know it when we taste it. This is... ONCE UPON A TIME IN HOLLYWOOD.

#24 Best Actress

Welcome. We never thought this day would come. I live in two worlds. One is the one I see before me now. Full of people I love and who inspire me every day. But the second is far superior. It is the world of actresses. Actresses made of flesh and bone, full of love, who are my ultimate inspiration for everything. Actresses never gave me any idea that I couldn't do what I wanted to do, or be whatever I wanted to be. As they guided me through these incredible years, I think they never realized the person I most wanted to be was them.

Rachel McAdams. Lindsay Lohan. Angela Bassett. Naomi Watts. Gina Carano. Kristen Stewart. Jennifer Lopez. You are my guidepost for everything.
